Counselor issue debated

By AL POST MCN Staff Writer

Should Romulus students have the same counselors for City Councilwoman De-borah Romak pleaded for that concept Monday night before the Romulus School Board, despite the claim by Superintendent Dr. William Bedell that the school administration didn't feel the request was practical.

When told that at least one more school counselor would have to be hired to consider such a system, Romak asked school trustees to look at the issue in terms other than

Middle School "Counselor Al Wilkerson has had a tremendous impact on eighth graders," Romak explained. Since about 50 members of the current "Class of 2000" are considered now at risk, Romak observed, "it would be a major plus if Wilkerson could continue servicing that class through the 12th grade."

Trustee Julie A. Oleszkowicz admitted that the middle and high schools could be "very impersonal places." But Oleszkowicz revealed upon attending a regional conference, she found another school district relies on teacher volunteers to aid at risk students daily.

"These volunteers manage to cross the selected students' paths several times a day, sometimes just to say 'hellowhat's happening','' Oleszkowicz said, "and even that limited daily tie in has boosted graduation rates for those students."

School Curriculum Director Thomas Dolan said he was not aware of any area school district that was following a seventh through 12th year counselor program.

Newly elected Trustee Michael Woods complained "I don't think this district can survive with only five school counselors. They cannot deal with a 1 on 200 ratio. More positive school time relationships need to be developed as well as more early intervention aides."

Trustee Sandra Langley said the counselor issue has not been discussed in recent years and expressed hopes it would be soon.

School compacts to be signed

By AL POST MCN Staff Writer

Having won the endorsement of Romulus city leaders, the Romulus Schools now plan to further explain their new "compact" with parents, stu-dents and teachers via a 12 minute video tape that will be shown often on local cable TV.

Phyllis Adkins, Cory School principal and a major force in creating the compact, revealed last week that she and other compact leaders "conducted a great dialogue" with Mayor William Oakley and many of his department heads recently.

The lunch session was held in City Hall in an effort to gain city support for the school compact, Adkins said, and the city now supports the school's new effort.

The compact outlines the roles expected to be filled by administrators, teachers, students and parents in the coming school year.

The compact needs to be signed by students and parents prior to the students entering the 1996-97 school year, Adkins stressed.

Thirty five school staff members and about 100 Romulus students appear in the cable video that will be offered to churches, new residents, realtors, school librarians, the city library, the Greater Romulus Chamber of Commerce and others requesting it so that the public can known more about Romulus, its schools and the newly created compact.

Realizing that he won't get his photo on a future box of Wheaties was somewhat of a let down, but Dolan still has one great hope left. He would like to meet the younger Dolan, when the champion swimmer returns to the University of Michigan this fall.

Alzheimer victim settlement reached

By AL POST MCN Staff Writer

A financial settlement in the $380,000 embezzlement case involving Romulus Alzheimer's disease patient Helene Pack was reached Monday allowing the victim's husband, Richard, to recover approximately $100,000 to $125,000 of their lost savings.

According to 34th District
Court Judge William Szlinis the only legal action still needed in the settlement is the signature of neighbor Kathy Frye, who currently is incarcerated in a state facility following her conviction on the embezzlement charges.

Frye will come up for her first parole hearing late in August 1997. Szlinis revealed that the settlement will have no impact on Frye's parole request, since it was a civil action.

According to the consent judgment agreed to in Szlinis's court, Pack, 79, will be given the proceeds of the sale of Frye owned property, several cars and various bonds and certificates of deposit seized from the Frye home by local police and Wayne County Prosecutor's Office investigators.

According to court records, Harvey Frye (the criminal defendant's husband) will be allowed to keep several trucks he uses in his construction business and the home the Frye family resides in (next to the Pack's residence).

But the records also show that the Fryes will also have to take out a loan to pay an $18,000 lien against their home and give the funds to Pack. Reportedly the lien is to pay back money for some of the improvements made in the Frye home that was originally funded by money allegedly taken from the Pack bank account.

The settlement also scuttles any lawsuit possibilities by either side in the matter, Szlinis said. Thus the existing lawsuit pressed by Pack will be killed and any future counter lawsuit by Frye is blocked from being filed.

The settlement was sought as it was revealed Pack was potentially going to be hard pressed soon to pay the $3,250 a month it costs for the nursing home services his wife is given. She will turn 82 in December.

Helene Pack

Mary Sue Czarnecki, a member of the Wayne County Prosecutor's Omnibus Forfeiture Section, represented the victims in the settlement effort. Richard Beemer, son of former Lone Ranger radio voice Brace Beemer, was the attorney for the Frye family.

The embezzlement case came to light about three years ago, when it was discovered that the frugal lifestyle of the Packs was being placed in jeopardy as $380,000 in family's bank savings was found to be missing.

The elderly couple had worked for many years and banked much of their weekly earnings, which were all but wiped out by the embezzlement of a pair of CDs worth $110,000 and $115,000 and other funds in the family's bank account.

Romulus Detective Sgt. Dan Snyder was informed that the Pack family had evidence that the money apparently was taken by Mrs. Pack's social helper and neighbor Kathy Frye.

Snyder and members of the County Prosecutor's office ultimately arrested Frye on embezzlement charges that stated the defendant talked Pack into removing her husband's name from the two CDs and adding her's (Frye's).

Pack family members said Frye was hired to provide Mrs. Pack with some visits to doctors, stores, etc and was not to handle Pack family funds in any way.

Instead she got heavily involved in Pack family finances, police charge, and ultimately took $380,000 (80 percent of the Pack family bank account) over a several year period;

ROMULUS NEWS

Crafters sought in Romulus

Crafters wishing to display and market their homemade products are being urged to register for the 1996 Romulus Arts and Crafts Fair.

The fair will be conducted from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sept. 21 at Romulus Historical Park on Hunt Street between Goddard and Bibbins.

Chairperson Susan Watts revealed crafters will not be permitted to offer re-sale items, but only craft objects of any type. Set-up time will begin as early as 8:30 a.m. that day and crafters must bring their own tables and chairs. The fair fee only covers the space to set-up, Watts said.

Registrations must be made by Sept. 14 and further information may be obtained by calling Watts at 941-0476.

Childrens' games and food concessions will be available and the Romulus Historic Museum will be open most of the day, she said.

Sanchez seeks commission seat

Daniel L. Sanchez of Romulus has notified City Clerk Linda Choate that he would like to be named to the new city Charter Review Commission, if one is organized.

James Rarey asked for a similar position several months ago.

There was speculation earlier this year that a Charter Review Commission might be formed to press for four-year political terms for mayor, city clerk, treasurer and city council persons.

However a vote to place such a question on November's ballot failed last week.

United Brass hearing slated

A public hearing requested by United Brass Manufacturers Inc. will be conducted at 7 p.m. Sept. 3 to have the Romulus City Council consider an Industrial Development District on 3.66 acres at 39000 Huron River drive.

Soccer clinic slated Sept. 21

Soccer pro and Romulus Firefighter John Thiede will once again offer his soccer clinic to area youngsters on Sept. 21 outside the city's Recreational Building on Bibbins.

The free soccer clinic for boys and girls of all ages, sponsored by the city's Recreation Department, will be conducted from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Recreation Director Debbie Dick urged the youngsters to wear tennis shoes to participate in the clinic.

Oakley planning family outing

An outdoor family fun fest is being planned for 1 p.m. Aug. 18 by 34th District Court Judge candidate Brian A. Oakley of Romulus.

Oakley said the outing will be offered at the Van Buren Park on the I- 94 Service Drive (east of Rawsonville Road). The activities that will continue through 6 p.m. include hayrides, facepainting, a moonwalk and a visit by Klutzy the Clown. Oakley urges those attending the outing to bring their own lawn chairs. Hot dogs and pop will be available at the park for $1 each. There also is a $1 charge for admission to the park in support of the Van Buren Parks Program.

7 are appointed to historical unit

Seven Romulus residents have been named to the Romulus Historical Commission.

Four of the new members have been named by Romulus Mayor William Oakley including: Gerald Wendland, Frederick W. Hay, Terry Bird and DuWayne Martin. Three others were named by the Romulus Historical Society including: Judy Widman, Clements Patrais and Phyllis Kreft.

Seifman, Rarey growl over deepwell minutes

By AL POST MCN Staff Writer

The Romulus war of words spilled over in print again last week, this time between Romulus City Council attorney Barry Seifman and citizen critic James Rarey.

Seifman said he reviewed an earlier letter from Rarey at the request of Mayor William Oakley and immediately branded the letter as "libelous" and said he expected Rarey to "retract his statements.'

The July 30 Rarey letter that Seifman referred to concerned the Nov. 9, 1995 City Council meeting held in Judge Michael Stacey's courtroom in Detroit Rarey took City Clerk Linda Choate and then acting Mayor pro tem Randolph Gear to task for not officially taking minutes of the meeting.

Rarey accused Seifman of non-feasance for not instructing Choate on the "proper procedures" needed that day and claimed such lack of action by Seifman "would be grounds for removal were he still in office."

In his letter dated Aug. 1, Seifman states the Open Meetings Act "provides for (meeting) minutes of the closed session not being open to the public and may be destroyed one year and one day (after

... what interest Rarev seeks to tortiously interfere with my contractual relationship by attempting to bully the City into releasing matters held privileged by our state

statues. - Barry Seifman

said meeting.)

"Rarey's suggestion that you (Mayor Oakley) waive the attorney/client privilege is misplaced. The closed session discussion was controlled and conducted by the City Council. They, too, would have to release the attorney/client privilege," Seifman wrote.

The attorney added "contrary to Rarey's accusations, I do not hide behind the attorney/client privilege. Such privilege is not mine, but the clients."

Seifman said he questions "what interest Rarey seeks to tortiously interfere with my contractual relationship by attempting to bully the City into releasing matters held privileged by our state statutes."

In his latest rebuttal to Seifman on Aug. 7, Rarey wrote that Seifman "should be embarrassed to write a letter so inaccurate and legally defi-

Rarey charged that Seifman addressed "the wrong issues" and "managed to completely evade" comment on the central issue, which he described as the illegality of making a major council decision in a closed session and then not ratifying it in open session.

Thus Karey said he stands by the comment he made in a previous letter that Seifman's lack of action "would be grounds for removal were he still in office."

Later in the letter to Seifman, Rarey said if Oakley "feels he has been bullied by me, I apologize (to him). However to anyone who knows (Oakley), the idea of me being able to bully him is patently ridiculous.'

Rarey concludes his letter by asking three questions:

(1)Did you advise or suggest to anyone in the clerk's office that no documents pertaining to the sessions be retained in the city's records?

(2)Did you discuss with anyone whether a roll call vote should subsequently be taken in open session? If not, why

(3)Did you have any private discussions with anyone concerning the consent judgment? If so, with whom?"

Youths honored for clean-up

By AL POST MCN Staff Writer

Nine Romulus youth, who reportedly volunteered to pick up a large amount of debris after the city's annual fireworks celebration, were honored last week at the Romulus City Council meeting.

They earlier had been cited at a Romulus School District meeting for the same volunteerism.

City Department of Recreation Director Debbie Dick informed Mayor William Oakley that she "recently was made aware of a group of Wick Elementary School students, who helped their community" by serving as volunteer clean-up persons following the July 4th outing at both Wick School and the Romulus Middle School. Dick said the debris was left behind by fireworks watchers and those who held tail-gating events in the schools' parking

"There was quite a mess left behind." Dick said, "and these youth picked up trash bags and filled them repeatedly with various types of tossed garbage. Since this was a city function," she added, "I wanted to recognize these youth at the Aug. 5th council meeting."

Given awards by Dick were Teddy Hall, Stephanie and Daniel Sturgill, Albe Garcia, Mike and William Honto, Robert Staffiery, Jeremy and Dakota Keahey.

At the same meeting, the council approved the letting of bids to change the outfield fence at Elmer Johnson Park that including moving the fence back 10 feet and hiking the fence from six to eight feet

Dick had asked for bids on the work since some of the male ball players were getting their noses and foreheads injured on the fence, while playing ball games.

The council also approved the Romulus Police Department's purchase of a Smart Trailer for $8,500 with additional accessory costs that could add another $3,595.

Police Chief Charles Kirby said the cost of the trailer would be taken from the department's federal forfeiture account.

The Smart Trailer flashes the actual speed a motorist is traveling as it approaches the unit for safety sake.

Councilman William Crova said the trailer would be of particular value when it is used in Romulus subdivisions to curb speeding.

Health center will enlarge

By AL POST

MCN Staff Writer

A Romulus alternate health facility known as the In Balance Center finally won approval last week from the City Council for special land use in an Office-1 zoned district.

The Goddard road facility owned by Geraldine Torres is now expected to be enlarged to include a second floor, possibly as early as this year.

Torres had sought a change in zoning to Commercial 2, but could not get the five votes needed for such a switch.

But zoning change opponents such as Mayor pro tem Randolph Gear stressed earlier that he was not opposed to In Balance Center growth, but objected to downtown zoning changes. Supporters of the zoning change such as Councilwoman Mary Collins pointed out that downtown zoning was already mixed, as were numerous high trafficked areas such as Saline and Frankenmuth. According to the special use, In Balance Center retail sales will be limited to merchandise that is accessory to the primary business there, which is reflexology, iridology and natural health services.

Torres earlier said enlarging the building would allow her also to have a bigger office. That would help out, she said, as she steps up her plans to write a book on reflexology.

The vote on the special land use was unanimous with little discussion, although hours of diologue took place during Torres' search for the C- 2 zoning switch.

Police prove to be 'good neighbors'

A new community-wide sensitivity seems to be emanating from all places-the Romulus Police Department.

While this writer month after month seems to be forced to spotlight the political divisions in Romulus, this week it is exciting to focus on the growing number of programs in progress or about to begin featuring local police officers, city officials and local residents.

While Romulus has had a rapid fire change in police chiefs in the last three or four years, the one crusade that seems to be unique with each chief (Robert Brown, Daryl Poe and Charles Kirby) is the interest in reaching out to the public and getting citizen involvement at a higher level.

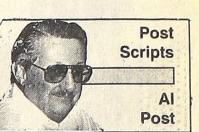

You don't need to be armed with a million dollar federal grant to know that the police department that is most effective is the one with numerous curbside allies.

Early on Romulus got involved with the Drug Awareness Resistance Education (DARE) programs in local schools. DARE officers in most communities become some of the most popular role models in our communities and their classroom involvement often leads to other benefits in law enforcement and crime pre-

As a positive follow-up to the DARE program, Romulus police also were one of the first to engage in training a GREAT officer to help keep teen gang activity at a low rate within the city.

While current DARE and GREAT Officer Darrin Wright has been busy in the classrooms, Youth Officer Jeff Lazarski has gotten about a dozen high school students involved with a totally volunteer Police Explorer program that gives the youths a chance to learn if they really want a future career in police work.

In addition, Lt. Poe and former DARE Officer John Leacher are now heavily involved in Neighborhood Watch programs, including one started recently at the urging of a Romulus homeowner Jennifer Nemeth.

the catalyst for the Watch program in the Applewood Subdivision, it was exciting to watch Poe and Leacher carry the ball for local law enforcement. Now on the drawing board and hopefully ready for implementation are a community policing activity and a police chaplaincy program.

While citizen Nemeth was

The community policing program will feature Officers Carolyn Huggins and Chris Imperati working intensely with citizens in the Calvary Baptist Church area. And insiders say that if the officers work with residents of about 200 homes in that area, other community policing teams will be set up for other Romulus neighbor-

A meeting of local clergy is also being called by Kirby and Lt. Brown in the hopes of putting together a unique team of city chaplains (male and female pastors), who will be able to help police personnel with their own spiritual needs as well as serve as police teammates in the community in both crisis and non-crisis situ-

The community action concept started a decade or more ago here and has been strongly enhanced in recent years.

Once again it doesn't take a police rocket scientist to realize that the most cost effective programs in law enforcement today are those that stress crime prevention.

Since tax cuts and tax hike eliminations are gospel to local residents, it is expected they will strongly support these police efforts.

High diploma standards pose problem

By IVAN HELFMAN MCN Staff Writer

"For the last six or seven years, we've been trying to improve learning [in public schools], but local districts don't always go along," said Dorothy Beardmore (R-Rochester), a member of the state board of education.

In the most recent attempt to establish meaningful academic standards for state endorsed diplomas, the state board of education set them so high that only about 30 percent of juniors that took the test in a pilot program would have pas-

A state endorsed diploma. like a Good Housekeeping seal of approval, is supposed to guarantee to employers that a student has passed proficiency tests in math, science, reading, and writing.

Though the test may be repeated, to get an endorsed diploma, a student must correctly answer 39 out of 61 math problems, 40.5 out of 58 in science, 29 out of 38 in reading, and 11.5 out of 16 in writ-

Western Wayne juniors took the test this year, but results aren't in nevertheless, we asked local educators and a school board member if they were happy with the reputedly tough standards.

Jane Kuckle, Wayne-Westland's curriculum director said: "We will align our curriculum with the state's. We have always met state requirements and will continue to do it. It's hard to comment without our scores, but when we get them, we will work harder where we need support. "It's a new test for us but I'm anticipating that our students will do well in areas where we've revised our curriculum, such as math. Next year we will revise communication arts. The following year we'll revise social studies. Our kids will have what they need when they graduate."

Kuckle said Wayne-Westland schools will teach skills beyond what the state requires. "We spent time with local businesses and looked at the attitudes and skills that will be needed in the work force. We're incorporating these skills -- higher level thinking, communication, and interpersonal skills - with the state core curriculum."

Kuckle isn't sure businesses are satisfied with the endorsed diplomas.

She said: "We thought employers would look at the endorsed diplomas and make hiring decisions. But we're not getting requests from employers. It's a big question how they're being used."

In contrast, Van Buren Public Schools recently elected trustee, Vesta Losen doesn't expect the state to keep the high standards.

'The endorsed diplomas will probably go away like the state's accreditation standards," she said. "When 90 percent of the local districts couldn't meet the accreditation standards, they lowered them. I expect the same thing to happen here. I want tough standards, but the board must fight against a big machine in the Michigan Educational Association. If MEA would work with the state instead of fighting it, then we'll have high standards."

She predicted that Van Buren will respond by only teaching students what's on the test.

Reaction mixed on clean up

MCN Staff Writer

A plan to clean up Newburgh Lake looks good in Livonia but sounds fishy to a Van Buren Township environmental group.

Using federal funds, Wayne County plans to dredge the weed-infested Newburgh Lake, clean out 300,000 cubic feet of soil polluted with poly-chlorinated biphenyl (PCB), a cancer causing industrial chemical that can accumulate in human tissue, and restock the lake with fish.

"Residents will actually be able to eat fish out of Newburgh Lake and eventually swim here," said Deputy County Executive Mike Duggan, a lifelong Livonia resident who has happy memories of swimming in the 105-acre lake, which is located south of Hines Drive, between Newburgh and Haggerty roads.

The fish will be edible by 1998, according to June West, public relations officer for the McNamara administration.

"It's great that the county is going to clean up the lake, but, all they're doing is shifting the pollution," said Andy Winnie, leader of We're Everyday Citizens Against Ruining the Environment (WECARE). "Since they're spending $10 million, they ought to do it the right way and detoxify the contaminated soil instead of placing it in an area where it's going to cause problems, possibly within 500 yards from another lake and an aquifer."

Winnie fears that the county plans to landfill the PCBs in EQ's hazard waste landfill in Van Buren Township, the only one in Michigan, which is near Belleville Lake. (EQ is short for Environmental Quality.)

The fear arose when Jim Murray, the county's environment department director, said: "The contaminated soil will be placed in a landfill for hazardous materials."

In the future, the lake could look like this.

While the landfill operators say they can safely contain PCBs, Winnie disagrees.

"Maybe (Duggan) doesn't know where Belleville Lake is," quipped County Commissioner Bruce Patterson, who said that the county hasn't stated where the PCBs will end up.

The project is part of the Rouge River Project, a project striving to restore the river's water quality. So far, the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency has given the county

$288 million toward that goal. The county received the man-made lake, made by damming the Rouge River in the early 1900s, as a gift from Ford in the 1930s. As owners, they also received the liabilities. A decade later, World War II airplane engine production under antiquated pollution controls intensified the flow of industrial byproducts into the environment. Postwar industrial production, which en-riched wayne county, also increased the flow of pollutants. Pollutants streamed into Newburgh Lake, turned into sediments, fattened the fish, and ended up in frying pans of unsuspecting fishermen. Eventually Do-Not-Eat-the-Fish signs were posted.

"In order to eliminate the PCB fish advisory and to assure that there are no remaining contaminated fish after the sediment is remediated, all fish in Newburgh Lake must be eradicated and removed," said West.

But Winnie fears that unless the county changes plans and detoxifies the contaminated lake bottom, the fish advisories will merely be moved to Van Buren. If the announced plan is the bait, Winnie's 1,500member group isn't biting.

Inkster booster Development leader sees bright future

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER MCN Managing Editor

Inkster business owner and Downtown Development Authority (DDA) Chairman Terrence Harder is fired up about the future of Inkster.

"In five years, there'll be a brand new Inkster," said Harder, counting off the number of potential developers with which the DDA has been working.

"We're out of room - on paper - of industrial space, but we're created another parcel and we have three verbal commitments for space in it," Harder said. "There are three large commercial/retail sites ready to be developed and the southeast and southwest quadrants of the city are prime areas to be rebuilt for residential uses.

The property on the northwest corner of Inkster Road and Michigan Avenue is the next project to emerge, he said.

"Sixty percent of the property has been assembled and by Christmas, a package will be ready. Building should begin in the spring," Harder said.
The $7.5 million project, called the Downtown Centre. will feature existing businesses such as Allen Lumber, Fashion Gallery, Fisherman's Net, Michigan Rent-to-Own, Far East Sauna and others plus Auto Zone and Church's. Also to be included is a large chain supermarket.

Earlier this year, Harder was quoted as saying that construction would soon hamper travel on Michigan Avenue.

"I still believe that - in a positive way," Harder said.

Harder has owned Andy's Town Lounge on Michigan Avenue for nine years and has owned an Inkster motel for some 15 years. He also owns property in downtown Detroit and has been involved in development.

"I'm here because I like Inkster and its people," Harder said. "Inkster has a terrific base of people. I could walk down any street in the city and recognize 10 people.'

Harder said his restaurant has evolved into a community meeting place where business people come to close deals and citizens come to jump- start their neighborhood organizations.

"I'd like to see Inkster be more like Ann Arbor or Royal Oak - it's possible," he said.

Harder said his involvement with the development organization started when he began attending Inkster City Council meetings.

"I speak out about things I believe in, and I did speak out at the council meetings. Mayor

Terrence Harder

(Edward) Bivens handed me a book about the DDA and told me to 'put up or shut up.' I read the book and realized the tremendous opportunities that a DDA could open up for the city," Harder said.

He "did his homework" by visiting communities with established DDAs and asking questions about their successes and failures, and learned some lessons from their experiences.

For example, he said, he learned not to "buy jobs" through the DDA.

"That's one of the pitfalls. DDAs can become cash rich and then decide to put its money into projects that are said to create jobs," he said, noting that often the money put into the project does not create enough employment to justify the investment.

"The DDA needs to stick to basics. That means to attract development and lend assistance to new businesses - help to assemble land, and, in turn, sell it to the developer. If the DDA makes a profit, that's OK," he said.

The success of the DDA is allowing the experts to do what they do best, Harder said.

"I step aside and let the experts handle what they know best. We also go to the experts for advice. If there's something we don't know, then we ask someone who has the knowledge," Harder said. "Each month, the Inkster Local Development Company (LDC) has a guest speaker with some special expertise to share with us. We have had guest speakers from the banks, elected officials and representatives from the federal, state and county levels."

Recently, Small Business Administrator (SBA) State Director Dwight Reynolds spoke to the DDA, and discovered that no loans had been processed for Inkster by the SBA for 14 years. He returned later

Aug. 15,1996

It takes a special type of individual to campaign for a congressional seat. It takes someone with a lot of time. It takes someone with a carload of personal cash or the ability to ask for large sums of money. The person has to be physically fit, a great speechmaker, but most of all a wonderful salesman.

Joe Fitzsimmons, Republican candidate for the congressional seat now held by Lynn Rivers, seems to be such a person. Retired president of University Microfilms in Ann Arbor, Fitzsimmons hit the campaign trail several months ago and will continue scouring his district of Ann Arbor and Western Wayne for voters until election day in November.

Here at MCN we've gotten to know Fitzsimmons quite well. He is always around. Last week he was flipping pizzas at Pizza One on Wayne Road. Two weeks previous to that he was talking to senior citizens in Westland.

The Pizza One experience was literally a "hot" one for Fitzsimmons. The suit 'n tie CEO of a multimillion dollar company was next to a $3.85 an hour pizza maker in a small room that had to be pressing 120 degrees. Fitzsimmons came away feeling good that he had an opportunity to experience the "on the job" training, but more importantly, developed an affinity for the people who had to work in the environment.

Fitzsimmons is spending a lot of time in Westland because he feels that to be the "swing" area for this congressional district. The People's Republic of Ann Arbor, of which he refers to his hometown, is probably a sure bet to vote solidly Rivers. Viceversa, Canton, Plymouth, Northville, etc. are Republican strongholds that will vote for Fitzsimmons. The battle to win, according to Fitzsimmons will be fought in Westland and other Western Wayne com-

So what is Fitzsimmons doing, besides spending more money on television commercials than any other congressional candidate in the state of Michigan" He's walking Westland. Fitzsimmons hopes to walk every street in the city by election time. He wants to talk to you, your neighbors — everybody. Last week, again in humid temperatures tipping 95 degrees, Fitzsimmons was in the neighborhoods avoiding pant leg chewing dogs and knocking on doors that didn't want to be opened to strangers.

It's been enlightening, Fitzsimmons would admit. He's impressed with the blue collar friendliness Westland offers up. He would like to say he gets the message loud and clear — we're fed up with big government and the constant barrage of new tax schemes. He understands as much as a man with deep pockets can with a worker who lives on money he earns from week to week.

I've covered a lot of politicians in my time. No one, and I truly mean no one, has put his heart and soul into a campaign as much as Joe Fitzsimmons. You might not like some of his tactics. His campaign is quick to throw mud Rivers' way. But, you have got to admire the man's intensity. He has been campaigning for 10 months. He plans to spend more money than all but a handful of congressional candidates nationwide and he is going door-to-door in the neighborhoods that by best estimates will take 30-50 hours a week of his time.

It is anyone's guess whether this intensity will equate to victory. Lynn Rivers has served the district well in her initial term. Fitzsimmons feels he can overcome this by pointing to weaknesses in her voting record. However, he's equally concerned about the top of his ticket. Can Robert Dole win Michigan? Can Robert Dole beat Bill Clinton, nationally? If he can, Fitzsimmons will be in a good position. If not, it will be a cause for concern.

But that's the way life is on the campaign trail. You can give it your all. You can spend lots of money. You can talk to umpteen senior groups. But in the end you are very much dependent on how your leaders at the top of the ticket do. Joe Fitzsimmons knows this life very well.

Editor's note: This opinion column was written to offer a look at life on the campaign trail and is by no means an endorsement for Joe Fitzsimmons.

Dole's plan make 'cents'

To the editor: Bob Dole has just released his long-awaited econiomic plan for the country. In it, he outlined his vision of freeing American families from the shackles of our heavy federal tax burden in order to spur economic growth. He named specifically a 15 percent, across the board tax cut, the resurrection of the $500 per child tax credit, and other measures that will save American taxpayers hundreds of billions of dol-

Not surprisingly, Bill Clinton and his damage control team began their onslaught against the plan, even before it was released.

This tax cutting vision is nothing new to the people of Michigan. In 1991, with a $1 billion deficit, one of the worst unemployment rates in the country and a nearly unbearable tax burden, the Michigan Legislature began our own tax cutting agenda. The critics argued that this was going to shrink revenue and cause the deficit to explode.

We proved them wrong.
By cutting taxes 21 times, we've placed more money in people's pockets to save, invest or spend as they choose. After just five years with this vision in place, we not only have erased our deficit, but we've been able to stash away $1 billion in surplus. Our state-wide unemployment rate is lower now than it has ever been, and taxpayers are keeping more of their hardearned money because they're sending less to Lansing. The theory behind Bob Dole's plan has already been tried in Michigan, and its success has been proven.

With Bob Dole's economic plan on the table, we can see a clear difference between the two viable candidates. Bill Clinton, who enacted the largest peace-time tax increase in history believes your money is better spent by bureaucrats in Washington. Bob Dole believes you have the right to keep and spend more of your money, because that's how jobs are created and that's how families prosper. In November, we'll have an opportunity to choose which path our country follows.

I hope the nation will look to Michigan as a model of what can be achieved when you lower taxes and empower people with economic freedom.

Thief takes flowers

To the editor:

I am directing this to a thief: I wonder if taking our beautiful red geranium hanging basket from our mailbox (and a lovely red impatiens from our neighbor) makes you feel like a bigger, happier, more secure person...and a person who will be proud of himself all his life. Taking a small thing leads to taking bigger things, but makes you a smaller person. You may think it was fun, but what about the person who watered it, fertilized it, and cherished it because it was a gift from our son? Some people try to beautify their neighborhood, and others try to destroy it.

Someday, when you're robbing people of bigger things, you'll be caught. So try to stop and think before you hurt someone again.

Handicapped need spaces

To the editor:

I don't know where to direct this letter, but I have to find out if we handicappers can get some

I'm speaking of two handicap parking areas in particular.

The Secretary of State office on Ford Road and Sheldon for one. There were only two places no where near the office, the other one across the street almost hidden by the bushes. The other place is located on Ford Road and Lilley, the doctor's office in back of the Mission Health building and it's the furthest one from the door.

I thought we handicappers were finally getting some consideration and help.

Another spot is in the shopping mall at Ford Road and Wildwood namely by Frank's Nursery. Everytime I have to go there for something the spots are filled up. There are times when the parking by Virginia Farrell's Beauty School is full and they park in the handicappers spot.

Resident says 'no' to permit

To the editor:

Dear David Werbach, please deny EDS (Environmental Disposal Systems, Inc.) their three permit applications for three commercial hazardous waste injection wells, for these reasons, among others submitted:

1. The "confined interval" you write of, in the USEPA public notice, that "the wells would inject into" is not a guaranteed (by you) absolute, continuous, homogeneous, structure; but, rather is a natural-occurring layer of rock, with all of its imperfectionscracks, fractures, and fissures, formed by the glaciers, during the ice ages! You, Dave Werbach, cannot guarantee, that the confining zone layer of rock, that EDS will inject into, "approximately 4000 feet below ground surface" (as the EPA public notice reads), exists today, July 26, 1996, without these imperfections: cracks, fractures, or fis-

2. You, Dave Werbach, the permit writer, cannot guarantee that any natural-occurring geological changes, such as an earthquake, will not occur in the future, after the toxic, hazardous waste has already been injected, creating new cracks, fractures and fissures for the waste to travel from the "confined interval" to the naturaloccurring aquifers, supplying ground water, directly above!

Mr. Werbach, I have an Endorsement for Earthquake Protection, added to my regular homeowner's policy. Why would my insurance company write such an endorsement, if an earthquake could not possibly happen?

3. We, residents of Romulus, might have to resort to water wells, in the future, as may any, or all, residents of the US, whom you, the USEPA is supposed to be protecting. Once EDS injects their hazardous waste, we will no longer be assured access to our ground water, by reasons of possible contamination if the "confined interval" fails, or by reason of a governmental agency not allowing us to access our ground water, once hazardous injection has taken place. In the event of possible contamination! Thus, EDS is seeking to change the "use" of private property, in addition to injecting their hazardous waste into the Mt. Simon Formation, under our homes! This cannot, and should not, be allowed by

4. EDS has "established a history" with the City of Romulus, a history by which EDS feels the City of Romulus, has not been fair to them regarding well #1-20 (Wahrman Road. well). How can you, Dave Werbach and the USEPA, and the City of Romulus, be assured that EDS who for the most part will be policing themselves, will stop injecting hazardous waste, if their annulus pressure gauge demands they must?

5. The original permit should not have been approved, once former Mayor Mc Anally sent you a copy of rescinding resolution #91-389, on August 28, 1991. EDS has cited "corporate changes" amongst the three parties: Doug Wicklund, Bob Ryan, and John Runco, as the reason! But, are you aware, as former Mayor Mc Anally was, that in 1990, (or possibly early 1991), both Bob Ryan and John Runco, and the companies they owned (including Special Waste Systems, which sought original resolution #90-589, along with EDS on 12-10-90) were being sued by the State of Michigan? Talk about a change in corporate entities! When Bob Ryan sat before our Romulus City Council, on December 10, 1990, seeking "host approval" from our city for the construction of EDS' toxic, hazardous well, did he inform our City Council that he was either already being sued by the State of Michigan because the Waterford Hills Sanitary Landfill, (once owned by Oakland Disposal, and its owners, Ryan and Runco) was leaking?

Again, EDS has "established a history" with the City of Romulus; a history not conducive to public trust! And, not deserving of public trust!

6. These EDS Commercial Hazardous nWaster Disposal Wells are not needed in this region, and are mostly for the monetary enrichment of EDS' owners, partners, and investors! If a cheap disposal of hazardous waste is created, it will only contribute to the production of even more hazardous waste, creating a vicious cycle! Deny this permit, and hazardous waste disposal will remain "a little more expensive, and a little less prevalent! A plus for the environment!

7. Lucky 7. Romulus residents do not want this well: and the few who are in favor, are reacting "under the gun, of a lawsuit," costing the City of Romulus money! Another example, of the "established history" EDS has with the City of Romulus! Let's sue them into submission: is that EDS'

Lottery introduces new 'Big Game'

On Aug. 31, the Michigan Lottery plans to launch its new multi-state Big Game.

In addition to Michigan lottery fans, players in Illinois, Maryland, Massachusetts and Virginia will vie for the jackpots, expected to go as high as $100 million or more.

The five states have a total population of 38 million, and at a future date the game may be expanded into one or two other states.

Each play costs $1. Players choose six numbers -- five from a pool of 50 and one number from a pool of 25. This creates overall odds of approximately one in 22 for winning one of nine prizes. The odds of wining the jackpot are one in 53 million.

There are nine ways to win cash prizes in the Big Game. All prizes, except the jackpot which begins at $4 million, are set amounts. The jackpot prize will be paid out over 20 annual installments.

The first drawing is scheduled on Sept. 6. Drawings will be held on Friday evenings in Chicago and will be broadcast on television, tentatively scheduled at 11:30 p.m.

Tickets will be sold at approximately 6,000 on-line Michigan Lottery retailers.

All net revenues generated from the Big Game in Michigan will be deposited directed into the state School Aid Fund.

Artrain rolls into Michigan with new exhibits

Artrain rolls back home to Michigan presenting its new nationally touring Art in Celebration! exhibition featuring artworks from The Smithsonian Associates.

Artrain will make whistle stops in 12 communities in the Lower Peninsula from mid-August through November before embarking on the second leg of its three-year tour. The 1996-98 national tour is sponsored by Chrysler Corporation.

"Artrain is thrilled to return home to share our new exhibition, Art in Celebration, with our friends in Michigan," says Debra Polich, Artrain Executive Direction. "After all, Artrain is a Michigan success story. We began in this state and now tour all over the country. Our success is due to many Michigan citizens and corporations, such as our national sponsor Chrysler Corporation, who support our mission to make the arts accessible to everyone. We are glad to be home.'

Artrain will make whistle stops in Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor

(2), Greenfield Village, Pinconning, Petoskey, Caro, Holly, Owosso, Trenton, Warren and a school tour stop in Detroit.

Art in Celebration!, a threeyear traveling exhibition, features The Smithsonian Associates collection of 34 contemporary artworks that celebrate the country's social and cultural history since 1972.

with four lenders and met with LDC members and has scheduled a workshop in October to provide additional loan information to Inkster business owners.

Reynolds also pledged that he would "end the loan drought" for Inkster.

Harder admitted that it was not always easy to assit new business to break through the red tape and bureaucracy, but it is getting easier.

"We are getting a lot of cooperation from the city to make their dealing with businesses more 'user friendly.' There's been many instances where the mayor and council have been very helpful in getting new businesses established in the city," he said.

"Everything is getting easier now that we have proven ourselves. Although we continue to pursue new businesses, we find that many are now calling us," Harder said. "In the past, Inkster was a bargain in land costs, but land values have skyrocketed in the last three years. A parcel on Michigan Avenue that would have cost $40,000 three years ago could sell for $240,000 today.

The reason for Inkster's renaissance is its location -close to Metro Airport and Interstate-94 and I-275. The city may be a "late bloomer," but Inkster is ready for an economic bonanza, according to Harder, who is putting in approximately 125 hours monthly with the DDA to see that it happens.

Heat cools voter turnout

While some primary election issues were "hot," the temperature on Tuesday was even hotter.

With the temperature in the high 80s, some voters cooled to the idea of casting their ballots. Several precincts in Western Wayne County reported few voters braved the heat to cast their ballots.

In the hottest race of all, Republican Ronna Romney edged out challenger Jim Nicholson to win the nomina-tion for the U.S. Senate spot on the November ballot. She will face Senator Carl Levin, the indumbent Democrat..

Local money issues did not fare well with Sumpter Township residents turning down a library millage, Westland voters saying "no" to a public safety tax and Inkster voters casting their ballots against a tax to pay for a sewer separation project.

In Wayne County races, Republican Donald Knapp will face Democrat John O'Hair in the prosecutor' race; Republican Timothy Olszewski will face Democrat Robert Ficano in the sheriff's race.

Democrats Raymond Wojowicz survived the county treasurer's post race and Democrat Forest Youngblood emerged the victor in the balloting for the register of deeds post. First-time candidate Paul Citkowski gathered a lot of publicity for his vow to abolish the register of dees post if elected, but failed to garner enough votes to make his pledge come true.

Republican Dennis LeMaitre will face incumbent Democrat Eileen Hart in the 18th District representative's race and Democrat Gregory Pitoniak will face Republican Matthew Ruffner in the 22nd District race.

In Sumpter Township, Democrats Marvin Banotai, Helen Teall, John Morgan, Linton Macklin, Arness Cox, Karen Armatis and Clifford Hill were placed on the slated with only one Republican, Jeanette Richichi, seeking a trustee's

In Van Buren Township, the race will be between the Democrats, Helen Foster, Sharry Budd, Cindy King, John Herman, Phillip Hart, Walter Rochowiak and Donna Clark and Republicans John Losen Jr., Terry Welch, Jennifer Delano, Sandra Gillespie, Beth Shelp, Robert Coppock and Ron Manley

Wheelfest revs up for Aug. 23-25

For those who enjoy contests or competitions - plus fun -- there's plenty to choose from this summer at the Wayne Wheelfest.

From golf to a bicycle rally and from the most beautiful baby to the most unusual pet, there will competitions for almost every-

The event, which will be launched with an Aug. 23 parade, will feature numerous competitions, races and events "just for fun" on Aug. 24 and 25.

Special events include:
Soap Box Derby, with trials beginning at 9 a.m. Aug. 24

• Family Bicycle Road Rally at 3:30 p.m. Goudy Park with teams of four with at least one adult.

 Wheelfest Golf Outing benefit for St. Mary's Choir fund at 11 a.m. Aug. 24 at Shady Hollow Golf Course.

 Pet Contest, beginning at noon Aug. 24 with prizes in many categories.

• Lip-Sync Contest with music by the Goldtones, from 3 to 5 p.m. Aug. 25 at Goudy Park. Contest has four categories from 10 and younger through an adult category. Most Beautiful Baby Contest, open to children born between Aug. 1, 1995 and Aug. 1, 1996 (Wayne residents).

 Garden Face Contest challenges contestants to create a face using fruits, vegetables, flowers, foliage and herbs (no artificial items). Contest is open from noon until 7 p.m. Aug. 25.

Featured performers at the Wheelfest will be Patricia Conroy at 8 p.m. Aug. 23, Jeff Carson at 9:45 p.m. Aug. 23, Beatlemania at 9 p.m. Aug. 24 and The Contours at 6:30 and 8:30 p.m. Aug. 25.

Many other performers will be featured during the three-day event. For additional information on any of the contests, contact the Wayne City Hall Festival Desk at 722-2000.

Re-enactments bring history to life

The weekend of Aug. 16, 17 and 18 is one that should please history buffs.

In addition to the start of the seven-week Renaissance Festival on Aug. 17 and 18, there will be reenactments from the War of 1812 and the Civil War at three sites, and the following weekend the days of the French voyageurs and fur trappers will be re-enacted in Monroe.

A unique children's theater troupe made a grand entrance at Stage IV of the State Wayne Theater on Monday to give area youths a hands-on approach to acting before a live audience.

Following the Aug. 12 auditions, the selected young actors and actresses rehearsed for their roles in Cinderella. The youngsters will be on stage at the Stage IV on Sat-uday to present their play. Some of the youngsters will work as stage hands and set directors for the production.

The Missoula Children's Theater lives by its motto, "Helping Kids Reach A New

The Aug. 17 performance of Cinderella will take place at 3 p.m. and 7 p.m. The ticket cost is $3.50 for students and seniors and $5 for adults.

Wayne actress foresees rosy future

One of the fringe benefits of appearing at the Purple Rose Theatre in Chelsea for actress Sandra Birch is being close to Birch, a Wayne native, has a leading role in the Purple Rose production, The Harmony Codes,, which runs through Aug. 25 in Chelsea.

Her schedule permits her to spend time with family and friends in Western Wayne County, during the run of the

"I've never thought about
"I've never thought about

After the play closes, Birch and three other actors will leave for Pennsylvania and New York to perform in a product-related production for Chevrolet.

"Then, I'll just see what happens. Something always does," she said.

been fortunate to find other acting work at the close of each previous play run.

"There's another play slated this winter at the Purple Rose that I'm hoping to work in," she said. "I love working there the director and cast are fan-

Birch said she appreciates the degree of professionalism in Detroit area theater people, a trait that she attributes to the good training opportunities in the area.

The Harmony Codes makes use of Birch's comedy talents, which seems to be her forte.

"The audiences have really enjoyed the play. It is funny, but at the same time there is a lot of pathos in it.

Performances are slated Wednesday through Saturdays at 8 p.m. with Sunday shows at 2 and 7 p.m. The play tells the story of Margaret Lancaster (Birch), an Indiana housewife who is visited in her backyard by space

Birch noted that she has aliens searching for "the code of human existence." Although her friends and family doubt her story, the news of her encounter with aliens catches the attention of the media and her life is turned upside down.

Jim Porterfield plays her husband, and Tricia Smith portrays their daughter. The space aliens are played by Wayne David Parker and Kate Peckham, and supporting cast members are Dan Brinkle, John Hawkinson and Jeffrey Nash.

Birch, a Central Michigan University graduate, has appeared in the Attic Theatre productions of Inspecting Carole and Kathy and Mo Show and the Purple Rose production of The Tropical Pickle. She has also appeared in many plays in Toronto, Calgary and Vancouver, Canada.

She has been seen in television and film roles, radio productions and commercials.

The Legion also captured the regular season championship with an impeccable 14-0 record.

It was an excellent way to wrap up an outstanding season, according to Chubb, whose players were unbeatable this year.

Some 13 teams qualified to compete in the season-ending tournament which traditionally showcases some of the best softball action of the year, according to Bob Dates, Canton Recreation Supervisor.

The Legion swept through the playoff series with an unblemished four straight victories, hurdling the obstacle presented to them in the form of ASAP in the finals.

En route to its weekend playoff victory, the champs turned back American Yazaki, 15-4, then clashed with Neumann-Smith, a team they buried 21-5, before advancing to the championship round and facing ASAP Machine for the first time in the doubleelimination tournament.

In the initial encounter, the Legion posted a 15-11 victory. ASAP didn't walk away empty-handed. The runners-

reigns as top gun

The Red Division champs took on the Blue Division champs last week to determine who was worthy of the Wayne softball league crown, and Leonardo's, the Red Division representative, again prevailed over its arch-rival, Wear

In a hard-fought contest, Leonardo picked up the playoff title, 8-6.

Wear's again spotted the Red Division champ five runs before it decided it was time to make a game of it.

The champs got on the scoreboard as Joe Anthony, Jesse Smith, Paul Cavanaugh, Barry Anderson and Ed Caldwell scored. Wear Master countered in the second with Bill Wagner racing home after Pledger's RBI triple. Then, in the third, Wear Master made it a 6-2 ball game and, after holding the champs scoreless in the fourth, Wear Master came back with two additional runs when Bruce Wolfe and Chris Benyo checked in after a two-run double.

Leonardo's got down to business in its fifth and widened the margin to 8-4. Although Wear Master loaded the bases in their seventh, the scoring threat was erased via a double play.

Cavanaugh led the winners with three hits. He also scored twice and contributed an RBI. Daniels, Anthony and Caldwell each accounted for two Leonard's lineup also included Jesse Smith, Chad Smith, John Caldwell, Joe Anthony, Mark Landis, Barry Anderson, Jeff Shephard, and Mark Lucas.

Wear Master received outstanding performances from Wolfe, Mike MacDonald, Bill

Wagner, Benyo and Greg Richards.

Wayne Parks and Recreation crowned its summer softball champs, clearing the path for the playoffs.

Leonardo's disposed of Lit-tle Bill's, 6-3, to take command of the Red Division.

Leonardo's erupted for five runs before Little Bill's realized what hit them as Jack Daniels led the assault that lifted the winners from a 2-0 lead to 5-0 advantage in the fourth thanks to a leadoff double, single and a double that opened the gate to a three-run

Pat Conway and Chad Smith also chipped in run-scoring

Little Bill's managed to close the gap in the bottom half of the fourth thanks to Gary Wojiechowski and Steve Mayes.

In other action, Wear Master Muffler, led by team manager Bruce Wolfe, jolted Johnson's Car Wash, 7-4, to win the title in the Blue Division.

Wear Master put the game away with a four-run third inning, although Johnson came back and grabbed one of those runs in their fourth. But two more Wear Master runs in the fifth convinced Johnson's that it was no match for the Blue Division leader in this

In a Blue Division playoff game, Wear Master defeated Kelsey Hayes in the first round 9-2 and Johnson's claimed a 14-9 decision over Allstate. Then, in the second round, Wear Master found Johnson's in its path again and this time dumped their arch-rivals, 9-3.

Wear Master had a 5-0 lead as Brent McNabb, Bill Wagner, Bill Pledger, Bret Zalewski and Wolfe came through with timely hits and runs.

A three-run Johnson's fifth, sparked by Ben Corney, Rob Puckett and Randy Blackwood kept the outcome of the game in doubt in the late innings, but Johnson's managed to shut out their rivals the rest of the way for the victory.

WYAA Meteors may have to forfeit 1st game

By TOM MOORADIAN MCN Staff Writer

The Meteors are in danger of losing their first football game even before walking on the gridiron.

The Westland Youth Athletic Association teams, which represent Wayne and Westland in little league football, have not received their jerseys and, without them, they will have to forfeit, according to sophomore WYAA Meteor freshman coach Mark Odom.

"The league will not allow us to play without the jerseys," Odom says, "and it takes three to four weeks to get them from the manufacturer. Since our first game is scheduled for Sept. 7, we may not meet the deadline."

Odom said that he has met with WYAA officials and they are trying to expedite the or-

The WYAA has traditionally fielded two teams - the Comets and the Meteors who compete in three age groups against neighboring organizations.

The WYAA is scheduled to conduct a board meeting at 8:15 p.m. on Aug. 20 at the Melvin Bailey Center on Ford Road in Westland. Odom says that he is hoping that the parents will attend the meeting and help resolve the problem.

"Our kids come first and I would hate to see all of our work come to a standstill because we didn't get the jerseys," said Odom. "I'm sure this problem will be resolved."

Twisters trounce Tornadoes, 41-6

After a frustrating 34-6 setback last week at the hands of the North Coast Rebels, the Twisters bounced back on Saturday and trounced the Toledo Tornadoes 41-6 to improve their Lakeshore League record to 2-1 on the young sea-

The Twisters, made up of former local and area collegiate and prep football stars, moved into second place in the semi-professional football conference. Twisters' head coach Kevin

Bradford said he was pleased with his team's performance and added "that we are definitely back on track.'

"We took a big step in the direction we want to go," Bradford commented. "I felt that the difference in this game was the emergence of our passing game."

Twisters' quarterback Kris Collins enjoyed a six-for-11 game that provided the winners with 138 yards and one touchdown. In comparison, the Twisters had managed to amass an anemic 68 yards in the air in their first two games.

Collins, former Woodhaven High All-Area performer, had an excellent target for this victory in Canton's Andy Colburn, who had three catches for 73 yards, including one touchdown.

Led by Wayne's Patrick Bowie, who starred for Coach Tom Moshimer at Plymouth-Salem, the Twisters also had their biggest night rushing. They piled up a total of 117 yards.

Bowie picked up 100 yards in 13 attempts. Teammates Kevin Kutch rushed for 96 yards on 19 tries and Jeff Platt added 64 in four attempts.

Bradford was quick to point out that the offensive line, in particular Mark Johnston, also of Canton, and Paul Daniels, of Livonia "were the two best offensive linemen in the league and will play a major role in our progress.'

Department. Metroparks offer 8 golf

> By TONY BRUSCATO MCN Special Writer

courses

If you're looking to play a round of golf this weekend but can't find an open tee time anywhere, just give a call to the head pro at your country club and let him know you'll be right over.

Oh, you don't belong to a country club?

Well, if you live in Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Washtenaw or Livingston counties...you indeed do belong to a club because you have automatic membership.

All you have to do is call any of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority...or Metroparks...golf courses and schedule a tee time.

While many of us are scrambling to find an open course to play, the Metroparks golf courses are an excellent alternative to the many overcrowded public courses.

"We operate 13 parks in the Metroparks system, and within the park system we operate six regulation courses and two par-3 courses," says Authority spokesman Dave Moilanen.

"If any avid golfer hasn't yet tried a Metroparks golf course," says Moilanen, "I believe they're missing a course that is very well maintained, is challenging, and offers the sport at a cost that is on- par or just below those of other public courses."

If you live in the five-county Metroparks system, you are indeed a member of this not-so-exclusive club. Part of your tax millage rate, almost a quarter mil, goes towards operating the parks. That equals nearly half of the $42 million Metroparks budget. The other half comes mainly from fees generated by entering the parks and golf course fees.

"The good part of paying to play golf at a Metroparks course is the money is put back into our budget to help improve and maintain the parks, buy property for additional parks, and fund educational programs which we develop for use at both the parks and area schools," says Moilanen. The cost to play at the Metroparks is attractive. It ranges from as low as $4 at the par 3 courses at Metro Beach and Lower Huron...to as low as $16 for 18 holes at the other courses, which include Willow Metropark, Lake Erie, Stony Creek, Hudson Mills, Indian Springs and Kensington.

To schedule a tee time at any of the Metropark golf courses call 1-800-23-GOLF-3.

also stepped up their game a couple of notches. After giving up 28 points last week, the defense was one controversial play away from their second shutout in three games.

Westland's Chuck Lauber, Canton's Aaron Brothers, and Jeff Burke, who hails from Flat Rock, received a huge hunk of the accolades for their efforts on defense.

The Twisters will travel to Inkster on Saturday to take on the Motor City Cougars on the old Cherry Hill High School field. The field is located on Avondale Avenue, approximately a quarter-mile east of Middlebelt Road.

Game time is 1 p.m.

The Cherry Hill School District merged with Wayne-Westland Community Schools in 1975 and the high school was closed.

Courses are 'nature friendly'

Sensitivity to environmental issues has been a priority with the Metropark planners who designed the golf courses.

Paul Muelle, Huron Clinton Metropolitan Park Authority planner, and his staff make decisions on course design and maintenance with the health of the environment in mind.

Decisions have been made to use environmentally responsible turf varieties such as the new Kentucky Bluegrass cultivars. In addition, an enhanced habitat for wildlife has been created by adding nesting boxes to yardage markers and by minimizing mowing in rough areas of the courses.

Some of the 'design and maintenance techniques they practice include:

 Using existing topography to minimize earth moving and impact on natural features.

· Preserving significant native vegetation on the site and maintaining vegetative buffer zones between golf courses and waterways.

 Providing a mix of vegetative cover such as woodlands, marshlands and tall grasses to produce diverse habitats for wild life.

 Preserving wetlands and open water.

· Using grasses that require less fertilizer and are more resistant to turf diseases and insect infestation on tees and

In its maintenance practices regular soil tests are made to help determine what and how much fertilizer needs to be applied, and grass on fairways and tees are maintained at a proper height which reduces stress on the plant and reduces its dependency on fertilizers and pesticides.

The park maintenance crews utilize integrated pest management to control pest turf damage, which means observing the course carefully for unacceptable levels of pest and disease damage and then applying corrective chemicals only in affected areas, not on the entire course.

Since 1988, the HCMA has not only preserved sensitive areas within golf course boundaries, it has developed more than 30 acres of new open water and wetland habitat during the construction of new courses.

It has developed more than 30 acres of new open water...

The Metroparks system was established by the state legislature in 1939, and was overwhelmingly approved by voters in 1940. The purpose was to develop and operate parks in the 5-county metro Detroit area. The Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority now operates 12 parks over 24,000 acres.

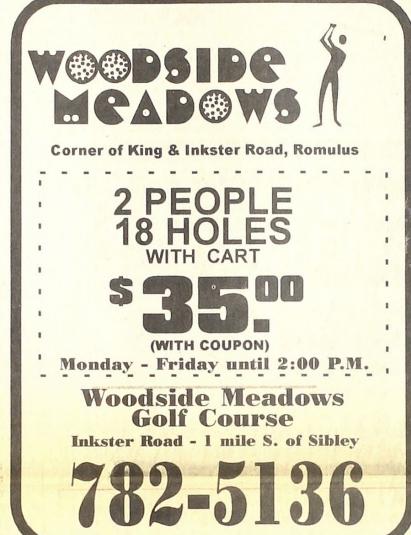

Wayne County is represented on the seven-member board which runs the Metroparks by former Wyandotte mayor William Kreger, who has held the post for more than

Volunteers needed for clean-up

The 10th Annual Huron River Clean-up, covering the northern stretches of the river in Oakland County, will be held on Aug. 17 beginning at 8:30 a.m.

Rain date is Aug., 24. The annual cleanup is sponsored by the Friends of The Huron - Oakland.

Volunteers will meet at the Kensington Metropark Group Camp site on Martindale Road in Milford Township. After complimentary coffee and donuts, vans will transport participants to a canoe pick-up point upstream.

Oldsmobile reaches new heights with Bravada

By Karen Stronski Automotive Writer

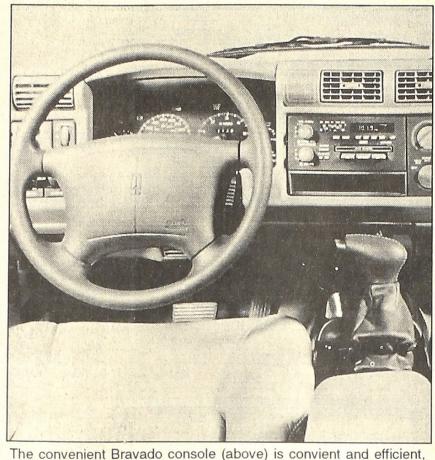

Wow, what an awesome automobile! Timing couldn't be better as Oldsmobile reaches new heights with the Bravada. Sport utility enthusiasm has reached peak levels and the demand for fully-equipped, up-level entries such as the Bravada is currently exceeding the most optimistic predictions.

It's easy to see why the smart money has shifted away from cars, towards wellequipped sport utility vehicles like the Bravada. No other class of car or truck offers such versatility. Combining luxury premium sedan qualities with the tractability of a tough truck.

The Oldsmobile Bravada SmartTrak offers a combination of full-time all-wheel drive, four-wheel ABS, and a locking rear differential which gives the Bravada optimum traction for safe and efficient acceleration and braking, no matter what the terrain or weather conditions.

Bravada's standard equipment includes a gutsy 4.3-liter, 190 horsepower, V-6 engine, a four-speed electronicallycontrolled automatic transmission, independent front suspension, and variable- ratio power steering. Other features include split-folding rear seat, remote keyless entry, and an overhead console. Daytime running lights, integrated fog lamps and a drivers side airbag add to the convenience equation.

There are also many luxury touches included in the base price. These amenities are

leather interior, a compass, and outside thermometer, as well as a superb stereo system. Plenty of leg room and passenger comfort add to this stylish package.

Aside from the comfort, roominess, and styling though, let me mention how smoothly the transmission shifts from gear to gear without any change in the ride or performance. The shifting is so snappy that one would not be able to tell it is changing gears unless you were to happen to look at the tachometer.

On the flip side of all the positive, for a (30,000.00 plus) automobile it's hard to imagine that a compact disc player is not standard equipment. The gas mileage could have been a little better as well. Aside from that, the negatives are too minute to mention.

The Oldsmobile Bravada SmartTrak was an extraordinary driving experience! I recommend that you take a closer look at this one, because "This Ain't Your Father's Oldsmobile!

Mayor welcomes guests to Wheelfest '96

To All Wayne Citizens:

It gives me great pleasure to welcome you to Wheelfest '96, which officially begins on Thursday, August 22 with the Miss Wayne Contest and the new local talent contest finals "Be a Star." These two exciting events will begin at 7:00 p.m. in the Goudy Park Amphitheater.

This year's parade will take place on Friday, August 23 at 6:00 p.m. beginning at the First Baptist Church of Wayne on Glenwood Road. Get your seat early for this year's "historical journey" through Wayne.
The Festival Commission has worked diligently over the course of offers something exciting for every member of the family. Goudy Park proved to be a beautiful setting for the Wheelfest in 1995 and it will again be the site for Wheelfest '96. Many of your favorite activities will be returning such as the soap box derby, car cruise and pet contest. Additionally, we will have for the first time a Wayne Pizza Challenge and our new Wheelfest Clown Mascots - "Big Wheel" and "Little Wheel" will make their debut.

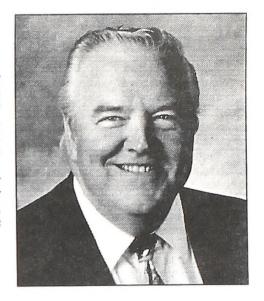

Entertainment will be non-stop beginning Friday with Patricia Conroy and Jeff Carson, country record-the last year to plan an event which ing artists, continuing Saturday with Beatlemania, a salute to the Beatles, and winding up Sunday with two performances by The Contours, Motown legends. Listed in this supplement is a complete schedule of events.

> Contributions and support for Wheelfest '96 has come from many local merchants and service clubs. It is their participation and yours that make this community great!

Hope to see you there.

Sincerely. Kenneth A. Warfield,

Ken Warfield

Wheelfest rounds up contestants

For those who enjoy contests or competitions - plus fun - there's plenty to choose from this summer at the Wayne Wheelfest.

From golf to a bicycle rally and from the most beautiful baby to the most unusual pet, there will be competitions for almost everyone.

The event, which will be ginning at 9 a.m. Aug. 24 launched with an Aug. 23 parade, will feature numerous competitions, races and events "just for fun" on Aug. 24 and 25.

Special events include:

- · Soap Box Derby, with trials be-
- · Family Bicycle Road Rally at 3:30 p.m. Goudy Park with teams of four with at least one adult.
- · Wheelfest Golf Outing benefit for St. Mary's Choir fund at 11 a.m.

Event confirms 'It's great to live in Wayne'-

It's great to live in Wayne and we are out to prove it again. We have been working hard to make Wheelfest '96 the best festival yet. Our commission started the planning last September and we are all very excited about all the activities we have scheduled for the entire family.

This year we have added a talent contest, "Be a Star." Entries have already auditioned and the finalists will perform after the Miss Wayne Contest which is being held for the first time outdoors in the Goudy Park Amphitheater on Thursday night. Thursdays are terrific...the park, will be full of talent and charm....see you there. Watch for our "Be a Star" winners scheduled performances at the festival too.

Our parade is Friday night but be aware that we are trying a new parade route this year. We have a great parade planned that we're sure you will enjoy.

Friday night Country with Jeff Carson's return engagement, Saturday night Beatlemania and Sunday the Contours. What a great line-up for your music entertainment. Lots of additional music scheduled throughout the weekend.

We planned some new activities for the kids...family tent will have puppet and magic show, story telling, craft projects, and games. Soap Box Derby will have 70-plus entries again this year! Come and see the car races.

Numerous food and beverage vendors will be available along with a Pancake Breakfast and Chicken Bar-B-Que dinner on Saturday. Also watch for our First Wayne Pizza Challenge...can you toss one?

We feel that the entertainment and activities we have planned should make this festival the most exciting festival ever held in Wayne and we hope that all our hard work will be rewarded with a fantastic turnout with everyone having a great time. I'll see you there!

Sincerely, Patt Hartford Wheelfest Chairperson

Patricia Conroy sings 'country'

Patricia Conroy is no stranger to the world of country music. Though new to America, she has been a hit in Canada since 1990.

As a native of Montreal, Patricia was raised in an environment influenced by both the French culture of her native Quebec and her family's strong Irish roots, which pervade her accent to this day. She speaks fondly of the Celtic music that flowed through her home as a little girl, which ultimately led her to piano lessons and vocal training just a few years later.

Conroy explains, "I consider my early years singing with my family, my church and singing acappella as the time when I really got to know my voice."

During those early years, Conroy discovered the music of Emmy Lou Harris, who she cites as her biggest musical inspiration. In her opinion, "Emmy Lou was the first country artist that could rock yet bear sincerity and soul in her music."

Patricia Conroy

In 1990, Conroy released her first album, Blue Angel, for Warner Music Canada.

Hear Jeff Carson at Goudy Park

It's all in the music, you say. The proof of the performer is in the grooves, and you're too sophisticated nowadays to be satisfied with the latest drugstore cowboy crooner just because of his hat and his drawl and the fact that he's so polite that he says "we" when most people would say "I."

All it really doesn't matter how well-crafted the press and the publicity campaign, you point out. Nothing's going to happen if the music doesn't make you sit up and take notice. If it doesn't get under your skin somehow.

With all that duly noted, please consider yourself on alert. 'Cause Jeff Carson is going to make a lot of people do the sit up and taking notice thing. True, you haven't heard much about him yet, even though he's been in town several years now.

Jeff Carson

But that's about to change real quick.

What's he been doing all this time? Well,he's been patiently refining his craft until now he's put together a debut album that's aimed at winning over a multitude of fans in the shortest possible amount of time, and cutting through most of the red tape between here and success

Contours visit Wheelfest

The Contours, known for the tremendous success of Dirty Dancing, will appear in two shows on Sunday, Aug. 25, at Goudy Park's Main Stage.

Shows are slated at 6:30 and 8:30 p.m.

The success of their recording of Dirty Dancing led to the 1988 Dirty Dancing Concert Tour which featured the collective talents of the Contours -- Bill Medley, Eric Carmen and Merry Clayton -- and was performed before nearly 2 million fans in eight countries.

Their 1962 hit, Do You Love Me, written and produced by Motown President Berry Gordy Jr., was rereleased as part of the triple platinum album, More Dirty Dancing.

They have appeared on the Oprah Winfrey Show, Entertainment Tonight and The Today Show.

The current Contour line-up includes Joe Billingslea, Sylvester Potts, Arthur Hinson, Charles Davis and Darrel Nunlee.

Just as they did in 1962, the Contours are asking the music question, Do You Love Me, and the answer

The Contours from their appreciative audiences seems to be "yes!"

Chautauqua Express performs

Program, a musical show for all ages, will be featured at Goudy Park at 5:30 p.m. Aug. 25.

The show has been delighting Michigan audiences for 10 years. The performance will feature songs drawn mainly from popular American sources and those most appropriate for the family audience.

This musical base combined with dynamic audience interaction appeals to every age from the youngest toddlers to grandparents!

Performed by Guy Louis Sferlazza, a seasoned performer from Rochester, Chautauqua Ex-

The Chautaugua Express Family press performances are special events. Guy's wireless sound system allows him to impact the entire audience by extending the stage in every direction. His warmth and enthusiasm create the "real magic" that is the Chautauqua Express.

> At the peak of popularity in 1921, 40 million people attended the various touring programs in nearly 10,000 communities.

> The Chautauqua Express Family show has been selected and is supported by the Michigan Touring Arts and nationally by the Wolf Trap Institute of Washington, D.C.

Magic performed by Walt Smith at Goudy Park

Walt Smith's success as a musician and entertainer has placed him in the wonderful world of magic and arena of entertainers. He has performed both locally and statewide in many of the finer establishments.

Visitors to the Wayne Wheelfest can see him from 1:30 to 2 p.m. Aug. 24 and 25 at Goudy Park.

Walt's success can be traced to more than 20 years performing magic to audiences of all ages. He is a graduate of the Chavez School of Magic, the only school for magicians in the world for over 50 years.

His engaging style has made him a favorite wherever he has appeared.

Walt has been featured at country clubs, fraternal groups, fairs, restaurants, schools, banquets, clubs, senior complexes and organizations.

SPRING Newspapers have your winning number in suburban Detroit.

7 6 1 8 8 5

SPRING's audited circulation is a sure bet.

It's no gamble. Buying SPRING Newspapers in suburban Detroit is a sure bet. Why risk your newspaper media dollars on an unaudited circulation? When you buy SPRING Newspapers, you're buying the largest audited circulation in suburban Detroit. The Detroit News and the Free Press have yet to issue a current ABC audit, so there's no telling how many papers are being printed – and who's receiving them. SPRING Newspapers are not only a sure bet, they're also a smart bet. For example:

- 48% of adults in the SPRING survey area read SPRING weekly and daily newspapers.
- SPRING has an audited circulation of 761,885.

- SPRING delivers, on average, 1,060,000 total readers every week.*
- That means that SPRING delivers 1,167,000 gross impressions for an entire week.

Compare these numbers to your other media alternatives; only 37% of adults in the SPRING market read the weekday Detroit Free Press or The Detroit News.†

More suburban Detroit readers turn to SPRING.

- SPRING delivers more weekday suburban readers with household incomes over $50,000.
- SPRING delivers more suburban homeowners (51%) than any other weekday

To find out more about the Detroit market and for more information about our current audit, call the SPRING Newspaper Network at 1-800/382-8878.
